DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-11, drawn to an electronic ballast circuit, classified in class 315, subclass 307.
- II. Claims 12-65, drawn to detection circuit, classified in class 315, subclass 291.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination in Group I does not require capacitive coupling, voltage divider network, re-generable feedback circuit, multiple striking circuit, comparison circuit etc. The subcombination has separate utility such as individual circuit for discharge lamps that do not need inverter (as required in Group I) for operation but use a step-up transformer instead.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

An election of a particular species as described below is required in the instance where the invention of Group II is elected.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

- Species 1: an end-of-life detection circuit defined by claims 12-24, and illustrated in Figures 4, 8e;
- Species 2: an overheating detection circuit defined by claims 25-39 and illustrated in Figures 5, 8f;
- Species 3: control and re-ignition circuit defined by claims 40-49, 61-65 and illustrated in Figures 6, 8g
- Species 4: a multiple striking circuit defined by 50-60 and illustrated in Figure 7, 8i.

Currently, there is no generic claim.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
